SESSION WITH THE CHICKEN DOCTOR

Consultations with an Expert! The Chicken Doctor, Peter Brown

NEW!!! We now offer personal consultations with World Renowned Peter Brown the Chicken Doctor! He will be available for you, our customers for any health and care related needs that go beyond our expertise. This is an amazing service we offer, the first of it's kind. We are blessed to have him as part of our Sugar Feather Farm Family, and know he will give you the advice you need to make informed decisions regarding your flock.

As fowl owners we occasionally have concerns or issues that we can't solve or wonder what to do. We have found that many online resources and people give a lot of mixed information. With animals in general it is hard to know the right answer, some of it is trial and error - which is valuable to learn and do, but getting the facts or actual information is really tough. Lots of people do things different, or have been given the wrong information. This is especially true with health concerns in the fowl world. We do our best to figure out the most accurate information and apply this to our farm. Part of our mission is to provide our customers with good information so they are educated in making decisions with their fowl. One way is to...

1-HOUR FOWL CONSULTATION

Sugar Feather Farm offers fowl consultations over the phone, video or in person for all your chicken, duck, turkey, guinea, quail and geese needs. We noticed a demand and need for customers seeking out accurate information customized for their flocks, weather conditions and situations. There is a lot of misinformation on fowl care, medications, natural solutions or just general needs. You have this rare opportunity to chat with fowl expert Nicolle here on the farm. She is extremely knowledgeable and has a vast resource of information, advice, and on the farm things she has had to deal with. She consults with industry experts in both breeding, farming and nutrition, attends seminars, classes, and is up to date and current in the industry.

Consultations can cover any concerns you have about your flock, but here are some examples:

How do I take care of baby chicks? Do they need supplements, what kinds of feed? Heat? Light? Is my housing right?
Ducklings? How are they different then chickens? When can they go outside? Can they swim? What kind of feed? Housing?
What are geese needs? Turkeys?
Explaining your setup and us helping you customize it.
Anything related to guineas. How to feed? Keep them on the property? What they need nutritionally to thrive?
Any unusual behaviors? Are they sick?
Some advice on treatments for sickness and disease. (see note below)

NOTE: we are not Veterinarians. Our advice is based on our education and experience. If...
